

Marquette University's Philosophy Department is accepting applications for terminal MA programs in History of Philosophy and Social and Applied Philosophy.

We offer rolling admission for both programs.

Every applicant will be considered for a tuition scholarship.

HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY

- Obtain one of few MAs in the history of philosophy in the U.S.
- Study a unique curriculum that integrates strong grounding in history of philosophy with current debates in ethics, social philosophy, and philosophy of mind.
- Work with renowned research faculty in Ancient, Medieval, Modern, and Contemporary philosophy.
- Graduate in two years with full time study (30 credits).
- Benefit from good placement record into funded Ph.D. programs.

SOCIAL AND APPLIED PHILOSOPHY

- Study in program designed for students with academic or non-academic career interests or professional development
- Develop critical thinking, argumentation, analysis and writing skills for scholarship or employment in ethics and/or social justice areas.
- Work with strong research faculty in ethics, social justice, and diversity related areas.
- Graduate in two years (24 credits of coursework, 6 credits of practicum in related employment/interest area.).
- Foster interdisciplinary interests (at least 2 cognate courses in other disciplines required).
- Pursue variety of options after graduation: non-academic careers such as non-profit and community organizing, advancement in current career, Ph.D. program.

For more information about either of these programs, contact Dr. Theresa Tobin (theresa.tobin@marquette.edu) and visit us at: mu.edu/phil.

For online application: <https://graduate.admissions.marquette.edu/apply/>.

--