

The Gallagher Summer Internship Program began in 1965 with a single intern. More than 50 years later, our program has grown globally to employ more than 400 interns each summer.

Our interns play an invaluable role here at Gallagher. Many of our executive and branch leaders got their start through our internship program, including our Chairman, President and CEO Pat Gallagher, intern class of 1972.

You'll have an inside look at what it's like to be a full-time sales producer or consultant through your internship. When you participate in Gallagher's industry-leading program, you'll work with our seasoned professionals while getting on-the-job sales and professional development training that will cultivate your expertise and accelerate your career growth.
