INTERNSHIP PROGRAMS AT NATIONWIDE

BE SOMETHING GREAT AS A NATIONWIDE[®] INTERN

At Nationwide, our internships are the real deal, designed to help undergraduates develop a strong foundation for their careers. In a span of 12 weeks, interns take part in key business assignments that make a difference, all while developing and enhancing their leadership competencies. Internships are offered in accounting, actuarial science, analytics, claims, customer service, corporate finance, financial services, IT, internal audit, operations, marketing, sales, tax, underwriting — and the list goes on. Participants also receive the opportunity to learn from & potentially join an experienced Nationwide team.

E&S Underwriting Intern

Come experience what Excess and Surplus Lines has to offer. As an E&S/Specialty Underwriting Intern, you will gain tangible, hands-on experience and insight into all aspects of our business. Interns will learn the importance of customer relationships and what underwriters are looking for in each risk. Interns will be involved in company projects, work through case studies with mentors and on your own, and learn about the unique accounts we insure. Interns will also be provided with educational sessions, exposure to different aspects of E&S/Specialty underwriting work, and networking and team-building opportunities. High performing interns may be considered for full-time employment after graduation. The underwriting internship will last 12 weeks, May 18-August 7, 2020.

A journey through the Nationwide experience.

Great culture

When you start your internship, you'll be welcomed by a culture of dedicated people who can't wait to see you succeed. Whether you're enjoying a morning coffee with your team members or working on a project with your leader, you'll find an atmosphere of support and motivation.

Great opportunity

Here, there's no such thing as a typical day! As an intern, you'll attend meetings and contribute to projects that make a difference for our company. You'll also focus on your own professional development by attending learning sessions led by key business leaders, and by networking with your fellow interns and team members.

Great impact

Giving back to the communities where we live and work is an important part of who we are here at Nationwide. Our Corporate Citizenship programs help transform lives in three focused ways: philanthropy, volunteerism and workplace giving. Using our time, energy, and personal donations, we make a difference that is widespread, deliberate and above all, delivered at the most critical moments.

Great company

In 1926, Nationwide began as a small, mutual insurer helping farmers get the best value they could for auto insurance. Today, we've expanded to become America's most diversified financial services organization. Even through our tremendous growth, we haven't strayed far from our roots. We're still committed to keeping our promises to our members, and fostering a work environment that inspires you to do great things.
