Any student interested in reasonable accommodations can consult the Disability & Access Center (DAC) website www.mtsu.edu/dac and/or contact the DAC for assistance at 615-898-2783 or dacemail@mtsu.edu.
Accommodation Letters

- Refer all students requesting letters to the DAC.
- If a student selects approved accommodations for your class, you will receive an emailed accommodation letter from Accessible Information Management (AIM) and the email will have York Accessible Learning in the subject line.
- Faculty should follow the accommodation letters and any questions should be directed to the DAC and not the student.
Testing

- Our testing services are our most utilized services.
- We will provide testing accommodations to students who have been approved of them if an instructor is unable to provide them.
- Students must fill out a request within our guidelines and the instructor needs to provide the exams/quizzes.
- Our office hours are 8:00-4:30, Monday - Friday, but we can provide extended hour testing until 6:30 as long as the student is taking the exam when the class is or if the class meets at night.
Adaptive Technology Center

- Provides students alternative formats of print materials and software in a range of formats.
- The adaptive technology lab is located in the library, room 174, and offers extended hours.
- The adaptive technology center is happy to consult with faculty about classroom accessibility (when available).
