

SEXUAL VIOLENCE VICTIM INFORMATION

Date: _____ MTSU Police Incident Report # (if applicable): _____

You have indicated that you have been the victim of sexual violence (sexual violence includes dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking). MTSU is concerned for the safety and well-being of our students, faculty and staff, and prohibits all acts of sexual violence. We are committed to providing a healthy living, working and educational environment for our campus community, and will continue working to provide the safest campus environment possible.

This document will provide you with information about the resources available to you, your options for reporting sexual violence and the procedures used by the University to investigate sexual violence.

Reporting the Assault: We will respect any decision you make about reporting this matter and you can choose not to make a report. However, we can assist you should you decide to make a report to University Police at (615) 898-2424 or Murfreesboro City Police, (615) 893-1311. Reporting provides law enforcement the opportunity to investigate and collect evidence that could be used in criminal or civil proceedings, and in any University investigation that may be conducted. University Police may also be able to assist you with any safety concerns you may have.

You can also report sexual violence to the Title IX Coordinator <https://mtsu.edu/sexual-violence/reporting-form.php>. A report may result in the University opening an investigation pursuant to MTSU Policy 29: Title IX Compliance.

The MTSU Counseling Center, MTSU Student Health Services, the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Program, the Employee Assistance Program and the Victim's Assistance Coordinator can keep your report confidential and are not required to report sexual violence to law enforcement authorities unless you choose to do so. Similarly, medical attention sought at St. Thomas Rutherford Hospital and the MTSU Student Health Services will not result in a report to law enforcement. (Note: reporting is required if a victim is under the age of 18; and a hospital must report if the victim has a life threatening injury, or if the victim is being treated for injuries inflicted by strangulation or a weapon.)

Medical Assistance: Physical safety and medical attention are of primary importance. You may be physically injured, become pregnant, or exposed to a sexually transmitted disease or infection. Medical attention is available at St. Thomas Rutherford Hospital, 615-396-6902 (ER), or MTSU Student Health Services, 615-898-2988. If done promptly, a medical examination can obtain important evidence should you decide to prosecute. St. Thomas Rutherford Hospital, (615) 396-6902, or the Rutherford County Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Center, (615) 896-3733, can complete the medical examination.

Preserving Physical Evidence For Medical Professionals/Law Enforcement: Do not shower, bathe, douche, or otherwise clean yourself. If possible, do not urinate. Do not eat, drink liquids, smoke, or brush your teeth if oral contact took place. If you must change your clothes, save all clothing you were wearing at the time of the assault. If you have changed your clothes, place the clothing in a paper bag (plastic may destroy important evidence). Do not disturb anything in the area where the assault occurred, such as sheets or towels. You should also save any text messages, photos, social networking pages and any other communications related to the incident. Following these directions will assist in investigating the offense and in obtaining Orders of Protection. Even if you do not currently wish to prosecute, this is the best opportunity to preserve this evidence should you later change your mind.

Counseling: Whether or not you report the assault or prosecute, a trained counselor can help you with the emotional trauma of an assault. Confidential emergency and follow-up counseling are available through MTSU Counseling Services, 615-898-2670, for students; and the Employee Assistance Program or faculty and staff; see <http://www.here4tn.com/>. Assistance from the Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Program, (615) 896-7377 (main) or (615) 494-9262 (crisis line), is available to both students and employees.

These counseling services are free of charge and are confidential. Your information or any information disclosed during counseling is not available to any member of the University community without your permission.

Other Assistance: Regardless of whether you choose to report the incident, the University will assist with changes in academic, residence halls, transportation and working situations at your request and if such request is reasonably available. The University may also be able to put No Contact Orders in place to prohibit contact between involved parties, and can assist you in obtaining a court-issued Order of Protection.

Confidentiality: Personally identifiable information about you will be treated as confidential, maintained in a secure manner and only shared with persons having a specific need to know who are investigating or adjudicating this matter, or who are providing resources or support services to you. With limited exceptions, MTSU will honor a request to not disclose your name to an alleged perpetrator of sexual violence, or that no investigation or disciplinary action be pursued. The Title IX investigator will discuss with you any impact such decision will have on an investigation and the institution's ability to respond fully to the incident, including pursuing disciplinary action against the accused.

Retaliation: Retaliation in any form, is strictly prohibited and will, itself, be the basis for disciplinary action. The institution will take steps to prevent and respond to reports of retaliation from other students, faculty, staff or third parties. Retaliation can include threats, intimidation, coercion or discrimination.

Institutional Investigative and Disciplinary Processes: Whether or not criminal charges are filed, the University can conduct an investigation (outside any conducted by law enforcement officials) to determine if University policy was violated and, if so, what action is warranted. See MTSU Policy 29 for details concerning the investigation process.

If the person accused of sexual violence is a faculty or staff member, that person may be subject to disciplinary sanctions up to and including termination of employment. If the accused is a student, the student is subject to the MTSU Student Code of Conduct and the institutional disciplinary process <https://mtsu.edu/policies/student-affairs/540.php>. These procedures ensure a fair and impartial investigation, hearing and resolution, which promotes accountability. You are required to participate actively in this process. Disciplinary proceedings will be conducted by officials who are trained on issues related to sexual violence and on conducting investigations and hearings. Both you and the accused are entitled to the same opportunities to have an advisor present during the investigation and hearing processes, including the opportunity to have an advisor of your choice for any related meeting or proceeding. You and the accused will have equal rights to:

- view the evidence prior to the issuance of an investigation report.
- review the final investigation report.
- participate in some form of informal resolution.
- cross-examine witnesses and present evidence at a hearing.
- to appeal a decision that they do not like.

Possible sanctions pursuant to these proceedings include restitution; warning; reprimand; service to institution or community; educational/counseling program; apology; fines; restriction; probation; suspension; interim suspension; expulsion; revocation of admission, degree or credential; or, any alternate sanction deemed necessary and appropriate to address the misconduct at issue.
