

Graduate Studies in

SOCIOLOGY

Choose a graduate program that provides
REAL OPPORTUNITIES before and after graduation

- Work with award-winning professors and scholars in diverse areas of expertise using multiple methodological approaches
- Well over half of full-time students receive departmental or university funding including research assistantships and/or tuition waivers
- MTSU is among the top fifty schools in the nation recognized as a “Best Buy” in higher education
- Choose specialized training from a number of concentration areas; recent student research focuses on a wide range of topics
- Low student to faculty ratio ensures close working relationships in seminars, independent study, and in carrying out thesis research
- Opportunities for conference attendance and participation, publication, and funding to support research and travel
- Our graduates reliably place in both academic and applied settings, from graduate programs and teaching positions to non-profits and the private sector; see our website for more details
- Students can take advantage of a new student union, health and recreation center, student support center, and more on the MTSU campus
