Your D2L Calendar/Course Schedule

Is there a calendar to keep track of when things are due?

- If your instructor has set due dates in D2L, you will see these dates on the course calendar. This may be found in 3 ways:
  - On your course homepage scroll down until you see the Calendar widget on the bottom or right side of the page.
  - On your course homepage or the content page under the Communication dropdown menu on the navbar, you can also select Calendar and you will be redirected to the calendar for the course.
  - On the Content page, you can view upcoming events by choosing the Course Schedule option on the left side of the page. You can choose to organize your calendar by day, week, month, or as items in a list. You can also choose to view all events or filter your calendar with the options listed. Be mindful that your calendar keeps track of dates for all courses you are registered for that use this D2L tool.
- As a student, you can also add tasks you need to remember for your course by accessing the calendar via the Communication dropdown, then scrolling to the Task dialogue box (on the bottom right) and typing in a task in the “add a task” dialogue box.

Checklists

What is the checklist tool and why should I use it?

- Checklists, when used by instructors, are a great way to see the expectations for each module in your course.
- Checklists state each task required of the student for that module regardless of type (i.e., required readings, viewings, discussions, assignments, etc.)
  - For maximum benefit, you should proceed through each task in the checklist in the order in which it is listed.
  - As you complete each task be sure to check off that item in your checklist, thereby helping you keep track of what you have or have not completed for that module.
- The checklist is there to help you stay organized, to assist in making sure that all items are completed in the order determined by the instructor, and to aid in adherence to due dates and deadlines, which are listed in your course calendar.

Discussions

How do I post and reply to discussions?

- To access discussions, you may select the discussion from the content page, or click on the Assessments or Communication dropdown menu on the navbar and then select the discussions link.
- You should see discussion topics posted by the instructor. When posting your initial response, in most instances, you will need to start a thread for that topic before seeing your fellow peers posts. For your initial post:
  - Click on the topic and then click Start a Thread.
  - Enter your Subject
  - Enter your response. It is always encouraged that you write your responses in another location then copy/paste into D2L - you do not want to have technology eat your responses (it is VERY rare, but it happens).
- When you are ready to submit, click post.
- To respond to a post, find who you would like to reply to and click reply to thread, then follow the directions as with initial postings. You should NEVER post a reply by starting a new thread.
