Hubner, Whit
McClain Jr., Robert E.

Type of Material:

Manuscript Materials, Postcards, Photographs, DVDs, CDs, Digital Files

Physical Description:

5.6 linear feet of manuscript materials housed in 6 boxes and 559 digital files

Dates:

March 2010- February 2015

RESTRICTIONS:

All materials in this collection are subject to standard national and international copyright laws. Center staff are also able to assist with copyright questions for this material.

Provenance and Acquisition Information:

The digital files, manuscript materials, DVDs, and CDs making up this collection were donated to the Center for Popular Music by Whit Hubner and Robert E McClain Jr. in November and December 2017. Mr. Hubner delivered the manuscript materials, DVDs, and CDs, and he emailed the digital files after placing them in a Dropbox.

Arrangement:

The original arrangement scheme for the collection was maintained during processing where possible. Some items were organized and moved for ease of access where no apparent organization was available.

The collection has been arranged in series as follows:

Series I: DVDs and CDs

Series II: Print Manuscript Materials

Series III: Digital Files

Subject/Index Terms:

 Mando Blues

Agency History/Biographical Sketch:

Mando Blues was a radio show that showcased the Blues through live performances, interviews, and deep cuts from every period and sub-genre of Blues music. It was recorded at the OmegaLab in a one-of-a-kind tent complex/studio in the woods of Pasquo, TN. The show was recorded on Monday nights and aired on WRFN 107.1 FM and RadioFreeNashville.org Wednesdays from 10 pm to midnight. Whit Hubner was the host of the radio show, and Robert E. McClain Jr. owned the OmegaLab complex that the show was recorded in.

Scope and Content:

Whit Hubner collected these items during his time as the host of the Mando Blues Show radio program. The collection includes DVD and CDs for each performance, manuscript materials, photographs, and digital files. Some manuscript materials are autographed and personalized. The digital files include audio and video files, photographs, notes, and other business files relating to the operation of the Mando Blues Show radio program.

Location:

All manuscript materials from the Mando Blues Collection are located in the Center for Popular Music Archival Stacks. The manuscript sound recordings are housed with other manuscript audio/visual materials, arranged sequentially by accession number. The digital files are housed on the Center for Popular Music's server, filed under Digital Collections, then by name of collection.
